

SURRY HILLS MARKETS

The Surry Hills Market is one of Sydney most iconic markets notorious for its vintage clothing and accessories, and with a wide range of old world books and home wears it is not just the locals that flock to this popular Surry Hills shopping destination to grab a monthly treasure.

The fresh upgrade of Shannon Reserve sees the young families of the Surry Hills community enjoying a lazy brunch while the children make the most of the playground. The markets charismatic feel make it a fun day out for a vast range of people.

Whilst we eagerly await the opening of the new Neighbourhood Centre and the move back to a centralised location the market day administration has been temporarily relocated to the Salvation Army - Oasis building. We would like to thank the Salvation Army for their support ensuring that the market has access to an office for the day.

This is my first year as Assistant Market Co-ordinator; it has been a pleasurable and eventful time for the Surry Hills Markets and I look forward to further developing my role.

I would like to thank and congratulate Leanne Lightfoot (Market Co-ordinator) for her longstanding commitment to such a successful market and The Salvation Army and City of Sydney Council for their continued support and assistance with the Market.

Amber Jones
Assistant Market Co-ordinator